How has Ben changed within the film? Why?

Over the course of the film, we can see a significant change in Ben's lifestyle.

At the very beginning, Ben is an incredibly parentally dependent religious guy who does things he doesn't like.

His mom pushes him into almost every action. He can't say "no".

Ben could not even imagine another life, but after meeting Evie, everything changed! More communication appeared in his life, he became less constrained, and even broke the law (moreover, this practically did not bother him). Ben became self-confident, found a real friend.

By the end of the movie, Ben finally gained spiritual freedom, got rid of the boundaries imposed on him by his parents and tasted life.
